Burton Farmers' Club

On the 7th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stanlake, of Middlebury, were "at home" to the Burton Farmers' Club.

The roll call showed the absence of all the gentlemen who were appointed to speak upon the general topic of the day for that side of the house, and it was therefore decided to defer its discussion until the next meeting, when the delinquents will be expected to lead in the discussion, as previous-

Mrs. C. R. Woodin read a paper upon the subject, "Are the people of today happier than they were fifty years ago?" She believes that with all of the advantages of the present, people really enjoy themselves no better now than they did fifty years ago. The old saying is true, "the more we have Rev. S. S. Fleming commenced a series of the more we want." It is also true that the revival meetings Sunday evening, in the more our neighbors have the more we want, church at the North Owosso appointment. Those who have much want more and those who have little find it hard to enjoy that little, and be behind the times in the matter of dress, living and entertainments, while over Sunday -- Mrs. Jas. Ockerman is very in the earlier days there was less care and responsibility than now. She spoke of the tendency of the people of today to go in guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cummings debt for the purpose of keeping up with the times, and then spending the rest of their were in Jessie, Sunday, to attend the fu- lives paying interest and borrowing trouble neral of Mrs. G. McCreery-Silas Shan- about the principal. Mrs. Randall thought her experience in making her first rag carpe and said she had never enjoyed any other carpet so well as she did that. Representative Shepard in speaking of his boyhood life said a Webster's spelling book and one other volume, constituted his library; that once when his father took a load of grain to Pontiac to market, he brought back for him a history and a geography, and the pleasure he derived from them was greater than words could tell. Pontiac was Owosso's nearest market then and at Pontiac was its pearest postoffice. Mrs. Rose said that one great source of happiness in the lives of our early settlers consisted in the thought that they were building up homes for themselves for their declining years, and for their children who would occupy them after they

The best plan for farm home lawns was discussed quite extensively. L. S Bowles would have the lawn extend on three sides of the house forty or forty-five feet, with a gradual descent to the highway. There should be trees outside this space, but peither trees nor shrubs within, nothing to obstruct the view. The lawn mower should be in frequent use, and if there were no water works available, there should be a shower once in two or three weeks to keep up the verdure of the smoothly shaven grass.

The no-tree idea met with a deal of opposition. In fact, all who expressed themselves after the first speaker were strongly in favor of having a few trees near the house, and many of the ladles would have flowers as well as trees. Mrs. Bowles had noticed that her husband always on a hot day took his rest under the shade of a tree.

Mr. Randall was asked the best method to train children, by precept, example, or the rod? He said precept and example should be in accord, and that kindness and love should be the controling power; that if parents would govern themselves there would be very little, if any, use for the rod. him in a terrible manner and arousing the Mrs Myrtle Merrill gave a recitation entitled, "The Amen Corner."

Associated Charities.

The annual meeting of the Associated Charities organization was held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Tuesday evening. The work done last winter under the auspices of this association is still fresh in the minds of our readers, and it hardly seems necessary to urge co-operation with the work for the coming months. Every family should take a membersh'p, secure a supply of introduction cards and send all applicants for aid to D. F. B.air, general secretary, who will see that their wants are cared for. Mrs. E. F. Dudley presented her report as secretary and asked to be relieved of the work for the next year. Treasurer Stewart's report showed expenditures during the year mounting to $94 02; cash on hard, $52.44.

The officers elected are: President, Dr. C. McCormick; vice president, J. S. Haggart; treasurer, C. D. Stewart; directors, J. H. Laverock, Mrs. T. M. Wiley, Mrs. Seth Hughes, Dr. McCormick, A. E. Hartshorn.

Edward Young will board with Sheriff ougale 20 days for being drunk Saturday. Jay Wilcox paid $6.20 rather than stop with the same host. Both sentenced by Justice McCaughna.

Mrs. Kittle Peterson was convicted in Justice McCaughna's court yesterday of using indecent and profane language in the resence of children. The fine and costs ounted to $19.

Edward and Fred Sweeney plead guilty in Justice McCaughna's court, Wedne to assaulting Charles Rickling. All the parties had attended the party at Arbeiter hall, where the trouble began. Rickling did not desire to engage in any disturbance and kept away from the brothers as much as possible. When he left for home the Sweeneys followed him, attacking and pounding entire neighborhood in the vicinity of Stewart and Shiawassee street corners by their profane and indecent language. Justice dence of L. S. Bowles the first Thursday in McCaughna looked into the case carefully and then very properly fined the Sweeneys $25 each and $6 costs. THE TIMES desires to commend Justice McCaughna for his action. A few such fines will put an end to a great deal of rowdyism. ## Himes-Ewer.

Yesterday afternoon a small company of the ery near friends and relatives gathered at the ome of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Himes, in this city, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Franc, to Mr. Frank H. Ewer.

At b c'clock Rev. Mott performed the ceremony in a very pleasing manner, after which the company partook of a bountiful supper.
The bride is well known and nightly esteemed in this city, while the groom is a highly res ed citizen of Owosso. After some time spent in social converse Mr. and Mrs. Ewer left for their home which awaitthem in Owosso.

They are followed by the best wishes of a host of friends who extend many congratulations.—Corunna Journal.
